1974 Jaguar C-Type

This car was built in 1974 using original parts supplied to noted Jaguar collector and musician “Jimmy Dale” who was keen to add a C-Type to his collection, creating a new body. For the following 24 years the car remained part of his collection before being bought by Terry Larson, a noted Jaguar restorer and author of the C-Type register. The car then passed to an Austrian collector in 1998 who kept the car for a further 18 years, using it sparingly at premier events including taking part several times in the Mille Miglia.
